Tim Condon of High Level Processing has saved me money and provided exceptional credit card processing services. Previous to using High Level Processing, I used a company which I thought had the best rates in the business. In fact, when I had another credit card processor check my rates for a free $100 gift card, they replied back, "How can this company make money?"

Tim and High Level Processing beat this company. He has no hidden fees or costs for discontinuing the relationship. There are no surprises, other than good local support and someone that I know that I can refer friends and business associates to.

If you take credit card payments of any type, let Tim give you a quote. You won't regret it.
